Introduction for the Survey

The quoted "Lines" following each family in the genealogy can be arranged in various ways in chart form. Only the barest skeleton of each is recorded herein in order to save time and printing expense. Putting these clues to work can provide a pleasant occupation for the amateur genealogist.

To chart the whole survey would require at least six family trees with all their intertwining branches, even cross relations from one tree to another, not only in this country but extending back to the Barons in Europe.

It is this moving picture with "blessed events" almost continuous, that has been a pleasure for me for some sixty years to record, always ending with sad emotions for those dear friends as recorded in the final entries of this survey.

From the genealogical lines a partial chart of any family can be easily started in this box form. This tree has two large branches Olmsted and Loomis. Two other branches give balance to the tree as both the Williams family and the Spencers are good home builders.

The "Adventurers" 1635

A small bronze tablet on a boulder placed in Adventurers' Green Hartford, has this inscription:—

> In memory of the courageous Adventurers, who > Inspired and directed by Thomas Hooker,
> Journed through the wilderness from Newton
> (Cambridge) in the Massachusetts Bay Colony to > (Suckiaug) Hartford, October 1635

The names of twenty-five men are listed on the tablet, of these, nine are ancestors of this survey.

Pequot War of 1637

The Pequot tribe of Indians were encamped near what is now the City of New London and along the Thames or Pequot River, at Saybrook and other sections of the southern part of the State.

The Colonists were having considerable trouble with them, so much so that a General Court held in Hartford on May 1, 1637 officially declared war on them.

A few days later Capt. John Mason with a band of some sixty men proceeded to Saybrook, being joined on the way with a few friendly Indians.

Soon afterwards Mason captured their fort; the Pequots were scattered, humbled and powerless.

By Sept 21, 1637 a peace treaty was signed by the Narragansetts and Mohegans, and things quieted down somewhat until King Philip's War in 1676.

There were many other outrages outside of this survey.

King Philip's War 1675–76

During the early settlements, living with a peaceful Indian as a neighbour, might have been possible; nevertheless, until King Philip's death, Indian deeds of treachery became historical events.

Even after 1676 when King Philip died, there were many spasmodic outbreaks of fighting and snipping of outpost settlements.

Prior to these outbreaks there was a great deal of misunderstanding and jealousy among the tribes especially between the Mohegans, Narragansetts, Niantics and others with camps along the shore line of Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Pledges were easily broken and hard to repair.

Major Robert Treat of Connecticut was in command of troops garrisoned about Springfield, Mass., that were later engaged in warfare in Rhode Island near Narragansett, where some forty of his men from a company of three hundred were killed and many wounded.

Epitaphs

1764–1820 Lucia Fowler wife of Samuel Hall of Portland
The sweet remembrance of the just Shall flourish when they sleep in dust

1755–1815 David Hall of Portland
They that sleep in Jesus
Will God bring with him.

1721–1740 Elizabeth Hubbard wife of David Strickland of Middletown
As you are so was We
As We are you must be.

1766–1839 Rosanna Case wife of Peter F. Buell
Why do we mourn departing friends
Or shake at death's alarms
Tis but the voice of Jesus sends
To call them to his arms

1731–1799 Prudence Tryon wife of Joseph Churchill
Heaven hath confirmed the great decree
That Adam's race must die
One gen'ral rain sweeps them down
And low, dust they lie

1734–1797 Joseph Churchill of Portland, Conn.
The grave is now my home
But soon I hope to rise
Mortals behold my tomb
Keep death before your eyes

1745–1821 Selah Norton of East Hartford and Ashfield, Mass.
My flesh shall slumber in the ground
Till the last trumpets joyful sound
Then burst the chains with sweet surprise
And in my Saviours image rise.

1759–1828 Rachel Bidwell wife of David Williams
Though he slay me, yet
Will I trust him.

1744–1825 Lodama Case wife of Capt. Aaron Case, Norfolk
No slander dwelt upon her tongue
An enemy she never knew

1676–1772 Ebenezer Chapin of Enfield
The longest day of mortal life

Is sure to set in deaths dark night
Fairwell vain world your joys deceive
Pure pleasure lies beyond the grave

1711–1804 Dea. William Collins of Enfield (south cemetery)
Those who the longest life enjoy
Though told us with a sigh
That to be born is little more
Than to begin to die

1706–1793 Dea. John Goodwin of East Hartford
Life is uncertain Death is sure
Sin is the wound and Christ the cure

1584–1673 Dea. John Hall of Middletown (Cromwell)
Here lies our Deacon Hall
Who studied peace with all
Void of malignant strife
Upright and just in life
Gone to his rest
Left us in sorrow
Doubtless his good name will follow

1716–1790 Charles King of Vernon (Bolton road cemetery)
Ye living men come view the ground
Where you must shortly lie

1744–1781 Jerusa Pratt wife of Benjamin Roberts of East Hartford ("A hymn in meter of Auld Lang Syne")
Corruption, earth and worms
Shall but refine this flesh
Till my triumphant spirit come
To put it on afresh

Deacon Smith, executor, kept all the property and refused to pay her funeral charges, even the sexton's bill (Center cemetery)

1809–1868 Martha Treat wife of Ozias Roberts of East Hartford
Our days begin with trouble here
And life is but a span
And cruel death is always near
So frail a thing is man
Then sow the seed of grace while young
That when thou camest to die
Thou may'st sing forth that triumph song of victory won

1711–1795 Ebenezer Chapin of Enfield

Ye Loving men see here your end
To Jesus voice pray now attend
Your days your years how swift they fly
Be warned be wise prepare to die

1786/7— Children of Israel and Martha Allen of East Windsor
ae. three and four years
Here we Brother and Sister ley underneath the cold Ground
Where you will happy be
If you with Grace are found

1734–1818 Mehitable Bartlett wife of Ebenezer Chapin
Why do we mourn departing friends
Or shake at deaths alarms
Tis but the voice of Jesus sends
To call them to his arms

1758–1826 Mary Langrell Bigelow wife of Capt. Aaron Olmsted
Forgive blest shade the tributary tear
That mourns thy exit from a world like this Forgive the wish that would have kept thee here
And stayed thy progress to the seat of bliss

1755–1781 Mary Benton wife of Jonathan Pratt
In faith she lived
In faith she died
In faith

1733–1759 Timothy Burnham Center cemetery East Hartford
The grave is now my home
But soon I hope to rise
Mortals behold my tomb
Keep death before your eyes

1652–1727 Richard Bushnell of Guilford
As you are, so was he
But as we are, so you shall be

1729–1809 Ashael Case of Norfolk
Nervous and strong a constitution sound
Yet I am doomed to sleep here under the ground
Firm and unmoved by pestilential rage
Yet I must bow before the power of age
Look then, vain mortals, soon prepare to die
For sure it is you quickly here will lie

David Lorenzo–7 (Dea.) His early schooling was in the East Hartford–So. Windsor School District. He attended the South Windsor Seminary and taught school in So. Windsor, Manchester and West Hartford. With brother Edward and cousin Henry they formed a trilogy of deacons that will long be remembered. The Williams Family of the Long Hill District were interested in school affairs, and by offering land were able to persuade the town to build a school house in a more central part of the district. Deacon David kept a diary, and his accounts of the winter storms, and the use of ox-teams to break a path through to Burnside is very interesting.
